Jaes encourages grassroots community based shamanism. We meet in a members home and share potluck meals where everyone contributes. This also keeps the price of classes low. Class size is limited so every applicant may not be accepted. Jaes gives priority to students who have already worked with her.

Jaes has twenty-three years experience as a shamanic healing practitioner, teaching shamanic classes and apprenticeships for nineteen years.

Jaes founder and president of Pachamama Inc shamanic community educational non-profit 1998- 2008, trained with numerous shamans from diverse traditions including African, Celtic, Tibetan, Korean, Siberian, Hawaiian and especially the Americas. She has taken extensive courses with The Foundation for Shamanic Studies, Sandra Ingerman, The Four Winds Society, Alberto Villoldo, graduate of the Light Body School and Mastery courses, Jose Luis Herrera apprenticeship in North and South America, Luzclara and the Mapuche traditions of Chile, initiated by Don Manuel Quispe and other Qero shamans.
